Graduated as a Web Developer and Community Manager, I bring a strong mix of technical expertise, leadership, and social engagement. Through my academic background and practical experiences, I have developed solid skills in web design, development, and digital communication, while my journey with AIESEC and other social initiatives has strengthened my teamwork, adaptability, and leadership abilities. With a balance of hard skills in technology and soft skills in collaboration and problem-solving, I am motivated to contribute to impactful projects, grow within dynamic environments, and continuously learn to achieve both personal and organizational goals.
